

most active and successful community leaders. His family has lost a loved one whose smile, caring and beaming optimism are now fond memories. Fred touched thousands of lives with his untiring efforts on behalf of individuals and civic organizations and through his work with local, state and national leaders. Few individuals in Florida have achieved the level and record of success in volunteer leadership positions as this gentleman.

Fred was born October 26, 1949 in Daytona Beach to Frederick Walter Leonhardt and Gaetane Wirtanen Leonhardt. Raised in Volusia County, Florida, he attended Seabreeze High School and went on to the University of Florida. That was when I first met Fred, during rush in his first few days on campus. During his college days, Fred was active in student affairs and he became Florida Delta Chi Fraternity President. He was honored with membership in Florida Blue Key and served in many student leadership positions. After graduating with a Bachelors and then a Law Degree, Fred served our nation as a JAG officer in the United States Army.

After marrying Vicki Cook, daughter of Tom and Gloria, and beginning his practice in Daytona Beach; the Leonhardts settled in Orlando in 1988 with their two children, Whitaker and Ashley. He joined GrayRobinson law firm in 1992. Fred not only chaired the Daytona Beach Area Chamber of Commerce, but also the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce and State of Florida Chamber of Commerce.

His list of civic, bar and community activities is almost unmatched by any citizen. Fred was an active member of the Central Florida Partnership, Floridians for Better Transportation, University of Central Florida Foundation, Tiger Bay Club of Central Florida, Leadership Florida, Volusia County United Way, the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, Celebration Health Foundation and served as a Trustee Emeritus for the University of Florida Law School.

He is survived by Vicki Cook Leonhardt of Ponce Inlet; their children, Ashley Leonhardt Lee and her husband Kevin of Ormond Beach and Frederick Whitaker Leonhardt and his wife Amanda of Orlando; granddaughter Madison Grace Lee; and sister Germaine Leonhardt Moffett of Daytona Beach.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you and my colleagues to join me in recognizing the life, public service and legacy of my friend and a great American, Fredrick Wayne Leonhardt.

RECOGNIZING THE ARIZONA BRANCH OF THE INTER- NATIONAL DYSLEXIA ASSOCIATION

HON. KYRSTEN SINEMA

OF ARIZONA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 20, 2015

Ms. SINEMA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Arizona Branch of the International Dyslexia Association and the thousands of Arizonans impacted by dyslexia.

October is Dyslexia Awareness Month, a time to spread awareness and commit to ensuring that Americans with dyslexia have the resources they need to succeed in the classroom and in the workplace.

According to the International Dyslexia Association, up to 20 percent of Americans experience symptoms of dyslexia. That's one in five Americans—making dyslexia the most common learning disability in the United States.

Dyslexia is a language-based learning disability, the symptoms of which can have a profound effect on a person's ability to read, write, and perform other language-related tasks. While dyslexia is a life-long condition, we know that—with the proper resources—people with dyslexia can manage their symptoms and succeed in school and in life.

For over three decades, the Arizona Branch of the International Dyslexia Association has empowered Arizona families impacted by dyslexia, provided resources to educators, and fostered a community committed to the success of Arizonans with learning disabilities. I am honored to recognize their courageous efforts today.

I am also committed to working with my fellow members of the Dyslexia Caucus, a bipartisan group that supports education and career opportunities for people with dyslexia, and ensures that their voices are heard in Congress.

By working together and forming strong partnerships with community leaders like the Arizona Branch of the International Dyslexia Association, we can ensure Americans impacted by dyslexia have the resources necessary to achieve their full potential.

INTRODUCTION OF THE PROTECT RIDERS OF METRORAIL PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION ACT OF 2015

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON

OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 20, 2015

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to introduce the Protect Riders of Metrorail Public Transportation Act of 2015 (PROMPT Act). I am joined by Ms. EDWARDS of Maryland and Mrs. COMSTOCK of Virginia introducing this important piece of legislation that impacts our respective jurisdictions. The bill permits the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) Secretary to administer State safety oversight activities for the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority until the District of Columbia, Virginia, and Maryland develop a State safety oversight program certified by the Secretary. The bill also permits the DOT Secretary to use the existing safety oversight formula funds set aside for the State Safety Oversight agency for transit safety oversight.

Following the catastrophic 2009 WMATA Metrorail accident that killed nine residents of the region, Congress gave the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) safety oversight authority for transit rail systems as part of the Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act (MAP-21). MAP-21 directed FTA to create and implement a national public transportation safety plan, and gave FTA the authority to set and enforce minimum safety standards for transit rail systems. MAP-21 also gave FTA the authority to oversee state safety oversight programs for transit rail and provided $22 million annually nationwide for formula grants to eligible state safety oversight programs.

On January 12, 2015, smoke filled a Metrorail train near the L'Enfant Plaza Metro Station in Washington, DC, killing one passenger and injuring at least 84 passengers. The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) launched an investigation of the incident, examining the cause of the accident and expects to issue a final report early next year. NTSB is also investigating the Tri-State Oversight Committee (TOC), which was charged with supervising Metro's rail safety oversight program, and the FTA, which has not yet issued any safety regulations nor created a national public transportation safety plan.

Earlier this year, the FTA conducted a safety management inspection of WMATA's rail and bus systems and audited the Tri-State Oversight Committee. FTA identified 78 corrective actions for Metrorail to address 44 safety findings and 13 corrective actions for Metrobus to address 10 safety findings. FTA's audit of the TOC found significant gaps in safety oversight, with the TOC lacking enforcement authority and failing to meet MAP-21 legal and financial requirements. Among the FTA's recommendations was that the jurisdictions transition the TOC into the Metro Safety Commission, which was authorized by the DOT Secretary in February 2014.

Following an August 6, 2015, derailment of a Metrorail train outside of the Smithsonian Metro Station, the NTSB issued an urgent recommendation to the DOT Secretary that Congress amend 45 U.S.C. 1104(3) to list WMATA as a commuter authority, authorizing the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) to exercise regulatory oversight of WMATA Metrorail. On October 9, 2015, the DOT Secretary responded to the NTSB recommendation by directing the FTA itself to take over direct safety oversight from the TOC. DOT will have available resources from FTA and FRA to implement direct safety oversight, which will include direct enforcement and investigation by FTA of WMATA Metrorail, and FTA will perform unannounced facility inspections and issuances of directives to address any safety inefficiencies.

This bill codifies the DOT response to the NTSB recommendation and makes the funding that would go to the TOC available to DOT and FTA to carry out direct safety oversight. I believe WMATA Metrorail riders will be relieved that the FTA will take direct oversight of Metrorail until the DOT Secretary certifies that a fully functioning Metro Safety Commission is up and running.

I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

CELEBRATING THE 275TH ANNIVERSARY OF TORRINGTON, CONNECTICUT

HON. ELIZABETH H. ESTY

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 20, 2015

Ms. ESTY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the 275th anniversary of Torrington, Connecticut.

On Saturday, I had the honor of commemorating the city's 275th anniversary with local public officials and members of the community. Gathered on the steps of City Hall, we marked this historic milestone, honored the city's residents, and showcased the best of Torrington. The event hosts were the City of Torrington, the Warner Theatre, and the Torrington Historical Society.

In October 1740, residents established a town government only five years after the first settler, Ebenezer Lyman Jr., came to Torrington. Within a few short years, the first church, meeting house, and main roads were built, and Torrington flourished. In the early 19th century, Torrington industrialized. Several large brass mills opened, making the city a hub of production in the area. Over time, Torrington's population grew to meet these new labor demands. Among these new inhabitants were a diverse group of immigrants, bringing with them cultures that would enrich Torrington's commerce, art, and architecture.

When our nation was embroiled in the Second World War, Torrington put its industrial muscle behind the war effort. The city produced vital materials for our troops and contributed to victory. Manufacturing continues to be a substantial industry in Torrington. Many of these companies have called Torrington home for decades, while others have found the city recently and discovered that it is an ideal location.

Today, Torrington is a thriving, vibrant community. It has set an example for what a city can do when residents work together with a vision for the future. The city boasts cultural attractions that bring visitors from near and far to see all that Torrington has to offer.

I am honored to represent the City of Torrington in the United States Congress. I would like to thank Torrington's Municipal Historian Ken Buckbee and the Torrington 275
